

The Great Surplus Food Hunt – Corporate Challenge

UK food businesses throw away 3 million tonnes of food per year – most of which could have been eaten by people. At the same time, an estimated 8% of UK households struggle with food insecurity.*

Help us inspire food businesses to donate their surplus food to charities that are feeding people in need instead of sending it to landfill where it contributes to greenhouse gas emissions and further damages our environment.

Join us for an inspiring half day challenge to get more businesses to think about food waste and sign up to our free online platform for surplus food donations.

Supported by Plan Zheroes, participants will work in teams of up to 3 people. They will have 3 hours to contact or visit as many food businesses as possible, documenting their Great Surplus Food Hunt with photos, videos and social media posts. Points will be awarded for successes great and small!

The challenge is a fun half-day activity which promotes team building as well as increased awareness of social and environmental issues. It also provides invaluable marketing and business development support for our small charity!

You'll receive a certificate showing how many businesses you successfully signed up to our platform!

Duration: 4 hours

Participants: up to 20 works well but can be more

Price from: From £500 (covering up to 15 pax), £30pp thereafter.

Location: pre and post challenge briefings to be done at location of your choice.

*Sources: WRAP, 'Food Surplus and Waste in the UK Key Facts,' 2021. Gov.uk United Kingdom Food Security Report 2021